2. Management Board's report

1. Events/Activities in 2022

- In 2022, FENS held the FENS Forum, a major international neuroscience conference intended to promote scientific exchange between researchers worldwide. The congress took place from 9-13 July 2022 in Paris, France.
- The European Journal of Neuroscience (EJN), issued on a monthly basis, supports the international neuroscientific community by disseminating original high quality research articles and reviews in all fields of neuroscience.
- Other activities that are typically undertaken by the Marketing Foundation (e.g. the Brain Conferences), did not take place in 2022.

2. Funding of the Activities

All funds raised by the Foundation are reinvested into activities that fulfil its statutory objective. In 2022 the Foundation raised funds in support of its objective through:

- FENS Forum: the Foundation's Professional Conference Organiser (PCO) Kenes Group organised the FENS Forum 2022 in Paris, France. Kenes collected the income from registrations, sponsors and exhibitors, and processed the majority of payments to suppliers.
- European Journal of Neuroscience (EJN): EJN is the journal of the Federation of European Neuroscience Societies (FENS). EJN publishes original scientific articles and reviews from all over the world, in fields encompassing molecular, cellular, systems, behavioural and cognitive neurosciences. The Foundation supports the editorial management of EJN and receives proceeds from the publisher Wiley thereof;
- FENS Job Market: The Foundation has its own job market online where organisations (such as universities or other foundations) can place a job ad.

3. Composition of the Board

President	Jean-Antoine Girault
Secretary-General	Panayiota Poirazi
Treasurer	Francesca Cirulli (until Feb 2023), Aniko Korosi (as of Feb 2023, the registration is currently ongoing)

4. Working Methods

- The FENS Marketing Foundation is closely linked with the Federation of European Neuroscience Societies (FENS) AISBL, which is established in Belgium.
- The Executive Committee of FENS AISBL appoints the members of the Board of the FENS Marketing Foundation.
- The Board of the FENS Marketing Foundation acts and takes decisions independently.
- The members of the Board receive no remuneration for their work for the FENS Marketing Foundation. They are serving the public good free of charge. Eventual expenses incurred by Board members for travel on behalf of the Foundation are reimbursed on the basis of guidelines for travel expenses.
- The treasurer is responsible for the financial administration of the Foundation. The Foundation holds three accounts at the ING BANK (a Pounds account where the proceeds from the EJN journal are received, and a Business/Savings account in Euros for all other daily banking needs). The combined content of these accounts represents a failure guarantee for the foundation's activities.
- Every year before June 1st, the board of managing directors draw up a balance sheet and a statement of income and expenditures over the past financial year of the Foundation. De Jong & Laan accountants Belastingadviseurs compiles the financial statements of the Foundation using the information provided by the board.
- The Foundation strives to ensure that management costs are in reasonable proportion to its expenditure done on behalf of the Foundation's purpose.
- Consultants are renumerated in accordance with their contracts.

5. Vision of the Board for 2023

The Board will continue to gear the FENS Marketing Foundations activities towards its primary objective of promoting biological and medical science in general, and of research and education in neuroscience in Europe in particular, and the performance of any and all actions which are related to the foregoing object or which may be conducive to it.

The Foundation endeavours to achieve its purpose via obtaining and using royalties and fundraising to support its projects, and through for example the organisation of congresses and scientific meetings, as well as the dissemination of scientific knowledge through the publications of the European Journal of Neuroscience (EJN). The Foundation shall furthermore implement its aims through the targeted support of other foundations with similar missions.

- The preparations of the next FENS Forum, which will be held from 25-29 June 2024 in Vienna, Austria, have already been started.
- After several cancellations due to the COVID-19 pandemic, two FENS Brain Conferences will be organised again in 2023 in Denmark. This high-level scientific meeting brings together outstanding researchers in key areas of contemporary neuroscience to discuss current concepts and define challenges for future research in a small intimate setting.
- The European Journal of Neuroscience is published on a monthly basis, aiming to further the neuroscience community's understanding of the nervous system in health and disease.

3.3 Accounting principles

General notes

The most important activities of the entity

The promotion of biological and medical science in general and of research and education in neuroscience in Europe in particular, and the performance of any and all actions which are related to the foregoing object or which may be conducive to it.

The location of the actual activities

The actual address of FENS Marketing Foundation is Science Park 904, 1098XH in Amsterdam.

General accounting principles

The accounting standards used to prepare the financial statements

The financial statements have been prepared in accordance with Guidelines for annual reporting for micro and small legal entities, as published by the Dutch Accounting Standards Board ('Raad voor de Jaarverslaggeving'). Specifically, a Guideline for small organisations-without-profit has been used. The financial statements have been prepared in accordance with RJk C1 (RJ 640).

Assets and liabilities are generally valued at historical cost, production cost or at fair value at the time of acquisition. If no specific valuation principle has been stated, valuation is at historical cost.

Accounting principles

Receivables

Receivables are initially valued at the fair value of the consideration to be received, including transaction costs if material. Receivables are subsequently valued at the amortised cost price. If there is no premium or discount and there are no transaction costs, the amortised cost price equals the nominal value of the accounts receivable. Provisions for bad debts are deducted from the carrying amount of the receivable.

Cash and cash equivalents

Cash and cash equivalents consists of bank balances with maturities of less than 12 months. The balance on account NL45INGB0020149662 (Pounds account) is valued at the exchange rate at December 31, 2022. The daily bank transfers during the year have been converted at the daily exchange rates.

Current liabilities

On initial recognition current liabilities are recognised at fair value. After initial recognition current liabilities are recognised at the amortised cost price, being the amount received taking into account premiums or discounts and minus transaction costs. This is usually the nominal value.

Accounting principles for determining the result

The result is the difference between the realisable value of the goods/services provided and the costs and other charges during the year. The results on transactions are recognised in the year in which they are realised.

Gross operating result

The gross margin includes the project funding and other income.

General and administrative expenses

General and administrative expenses comprise costs chargeable to the year that are not directly attributable to the cost of the goods and services sold.

Financial income and expenses

Exchange differences that arise from the settlement or translation of monetary items are recorded in the profit and loss account in the period in which they occur, unless hedge-accounting is applied.
